Among distinguished visitors to the Peninsula this week has been a soft-spoken, gray-haired, wryly smiling gentleman who looks as if he might be a college professor and is instead one of the country's leading planners of industrial exhibitions.

He is LeRoy E. Kiefer, executive in charge of product and exhibit design section, General Motors Styling, who is just back from the Brussels World Fair which he viewed with a professional eye. He was also in charge of his company's exhibit there.

Mr. Kiefer left Tuesday to return to his Detroit home after a four-day stay at the Pine Inn with Mrs. Kiefer and a son, John. The trio spent four days here visiting another son Leroy, Jr., who is a student at the U. S. Army Language School.

Not only did Mr. Kiefer see, and incidentally like, the Fair as an experienced critic, he also compared it with other fairs. He has been a viewer of every world fair since and including the Chicago Exposition of 1933.

"Because of previous criticism, especially of the American exhibit, I went to Brussels expecting to be disappointed," he reported. "I was not. Every nation has put forth a tremendous effort to display everything they can of their cultural and material importance to mankind. Everything in sight is perfectly exquisite, the sort of thing you would pick up and take home if you could."

"In the United States pavilion, even on a dull day, there is a sunny open atmosphere with plenty to interest the average viewer, planned with the thought in mind that there is a limit to how much the average person can absorb at one viewing."

"Perhaps not everyone will understand the Steinberg cartoons appearing with the American display, but no one can miss the whimsy of the 'kangaroo' shoes with springs in the soles which are shown right along with the other kinds of American footwear."

Compared with this country's 1933 show, the first one Mr. Kiefer saw, this year's effort is more intimate, and more sophisticated. There's less souvenir hawking, and better planning.

The visitor, whose regular job includes responsibility for his firm's Motorama and Kitchen of Tomorrow productions, came into industrial design through a back door left invitingly open by a well-known benefactor.

Architecture was Mr. Kiefer's first enthusiasm. When he was 21, he was recipient of the coveted travel fellowship given at the Uni-

F. B. I., Sheriff, Carmel Police At Work On Robberies

Representatives from the inspector's bureau of the Monterey County Sheriff's office and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are working on two jewel robberies in Pebble Beach. On Monday Mrs. George L. Coleman reported jewelry worth between $63,000 and $100,000 missing from an unlocked dresser drawer in her residence. The same day Mrs. Helen S. Hyman and Mrs. Matilda M. Salkow, both of Los Angeles, reported about $2,300 worth of jewelry was taken from a guest cottage near Del Monte Lodge.

Carmel police are investigating a burglary at the Carmel Delicatessen over the weekend when about $700 was taken from a metal box in a cabinet and around $50 from a cash register. Entry was gained by prying open the rear door of the delicatessen and restaurant on Ocean Avenue near Mission Street. Mrs. Bessie Clayton owns the business which is operated by her daughters, Mrs. Roxy Jensen and Mrs. Amelia Myette. Carmel police report the box, cabinet and register were unlocked.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MAKES CALL

Burning grease in the oven of the Nieto home on Torres Street was chemically extinguished by Carmel Fire Department members last night shortly before 8:00 o'clock. Asked why the fire whistle calling out volunteers blew so long for such a small fire, Fireman Dave Machado replied, "We make as much noise for a little fire as a big one."

NURSE HITS EMBANKMENT

Lillian Ermitano, a nurse employed at the home of Fred A. Seely of Pebble Beach, nearly lost control of her car on the Salinas-Monterey road at 1:30 o'clock this morning and ran into an embankment near the Corral de Tierra cutoff. She was not injured, according to the California Highway Patrol report.

Big Gabfest On Motels, Tourists, Carmel Knolls, Satisfies Public Hearing Requirements On "Plan"

Fifteen citizens spoke, some twice, some thrice, on the Carmel Master Plan and more or less related subjects at Tuesday night's public hearing before the city council.

City Attorney John Morse, City Clerk Larry Rose and the five councilmen also spoke, some of them twice and thrice.

Almost everybody got applause from the full-house audience,

Peninsula Cities Celebrate Fourth, Carmel On The Beach

Carmel plans no official Fourth of July celebrations but many families have arranged traditional suppers around bonfires on the beach and will set off fireworks as soon as the sun sets. The main beach is the only area where fireworks are permitted in Carmel.

A parade of 100 units and 1,500 marching soldiers and sailors will mark the City of Seaside's signing of the Declaration of Independence celebration. Starting from the intersection of Fremont and Del Monte boulevards at 11:00 o'clock tomorrow morning, the parade will proceed south on Del Monte for two miles turning left on Canyon Del Rey boulevard. Supervisor Tom Hudson will be master of ceremonies.

After the parade a chicken barbecue will be held for the public at Del Rey Oaks playground, with adults paying $1.25 for the meal, children 50 cents.

Monterey will set off $800 worth of fireworks from Wharf No. 2 on the evening of the Fourth.

On Saturday the Navy joins with the Peninsula Navy League and the Monterey History and Art Association to observe the 112th anniversary of the landing of Commodore Sloat in Monterey when Sloat's men claimed the Western Territory for the United States. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Art Comm. Report

The steering committee appointed by Mayor John Chitwood to study Councilman Gunnar Norberg's proposal that Carmel have an Arts Commission has finished its work, and its chairman, Gilbert Boyer, will make the following report to the council at its meeting on July 9.

"We enthusiastically recommend the establishment of such a commission. Upon checking other localities in California and the rest of the country we find that similar commissions are considered indispensable in areas interested in cultural pursuits."

The committee recommends that the name be Carmel Arts Commission, and that the objectives be:

To stimulate, organize and even operate, when necessary, artistic functions in the area. To lend aid to organizations making cultural contributions worthy of support. To be available for consultation in artistic matters to maintain the Carmel tradition. To receive officially bequests and donations related to the arts. To encourage talent in the area with awards. To act as a clearing house for cultural and entertainment dates and to maintain a calendar of such events. To send exhibits of arts and crafts out of Carmel as well as encourage, traveling art and artists of the highest calibre to present their work in Carmel. To establish an association membership for anyone interested with dues of $1.00 per year and intermittent meetings. To recommend the establishing of a city-sponsor. (Continued on Page Fourteen)

8 And Run, Original Musical Revue Opens Tonight At The Studio

The gala opening of The Studio Theatre's first production, 8 and Run will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

This musical revue made up entirely of original material by Jerry De Bono along with Timothy Gray and Dolores Clayman boasts the same Mr. De Bono as featured player. He worked as writer on the show in London where it was produced under the title of Here and There, but not until Carmel has he actually performed in the show himself. Television audiences may recognize his name from writer's credits on Kraft Theatre and other network drama shows. His comic talents will be in evidence in 8 and Run especially in one number where he plays Liedercrantz, a shepherd thwarted in love by an "ancient princess" whom he has only seen at a distance.

Dossie Hollingsworth, an east coast supper club entertainer helps to round out the cast, most of whom have been imported to perform in the show.

8 and Run will play on Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays, throughout July and August in downtown Carmel at The Studio Theatre, Dolores between Ocean and Seventh Streets.

NO-HIT NO-RUN GAME FEATURES FARM LEAGUE PLAYOFF

A sparkling no-hit no-run pitching performance by Peter McArthur, ace Whitney hurler, kept Whitney's restaurant farm team in the thick of the Little League farm team playoffs. The accurate-throwing righthander cut down fourteen Nikko swingers via the strikeout route and issued only four walks over the six-inning route. While Pete was baffling the opposition from the pitcher's mound, his mates were teeing off on Nikko pitching for twelve hits and 14 runs. In the second game of the playoff, the Little Sparrows squad kept its winning streak intact by shelling the Village Inn, 12 to 9. Harold Williams pitched the win for the Little Sparrows and provided the big blow of the afternoon by hitting a home run with the bases loaded.

This Saturday's playoff action matches Nikko's with the Village Inn at 12 noon in the consolation bracket with Whitney's and the Little Sparrows playing for the championship at 2:00 o'clock.

CARMEL DROPS BABE RUTH TILT, 7 TO 5

Carmel's entry in the Monterey Babe Ruth League dropped a close 7-5 decision to the Central Labor Council squad last Sunday afternoon at Monterey's El Estero diamond. The Carmel lads were in the ball game all the way as they fought back to knot the count at 5-5 in the fifth, heat only to see victory escape them in the next inning as Central Labor pushed across the winning runs. Jim Brown pitched a creditable game for Jack Miller's gang, giving up six hits and striking out six in the seven-inning game. Mike Cole and Scott Forbes were the only Carmel hitters to solve the offerings of Central Labor pitcher, Jim Colletto, who racked up his initial victory with a nifty four-hitter. Mike chipped in with two singles in three chances while Scott picked up a pair of safeties in four trips to the plate.

At a meeting of the Babe Ruth League managers Tuesday night, Bob Little and Jim Brown were selected from the Carmel team to play on the All-Star squad in the section playoffs which start July 22.

CARMEL MERCHANTS WIN FIFTH STRAIGHT

Back on the win trail after a mid-season slump, Paul Artellan's Carmel Merchants softball team racked up its fifth straight victory Tuesday night, whipping the strong 19th Hole aggregation, 3 to 2, in a tight well-played game at Monterey's Jacks Park. Last Saturday night, the Merchants defeated one of the top softball clubs in Salinas by edging the Marc's Paint team, 3 to 2.

WILDER & JONES LEAD CARMEL LITTLE LEAGUE

	W.	L.
Wilder & Jones	5	1
Sport Shop	4	1
Pilot Market	3	2
San Carlos Realty	3	3
Boys' Town	2	4
Turner & McEldowney	0	6

With three games left to play in the second-half, Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones Little League squad is in the driver's seat and heavily favored to cop the second-half title and earn the right to meet Boys' Town for the league championship. The W & J boys picked up a big win Tuesday evening by edging Boys' Town, 3 to 2, in a tight pitching duel between Mike Brasher and Ronnie Jella. The plumbers picked up one hit in this game but got plenty of distance out of the solo hit scoring three runs. Boys' Town solved Brasher's pitching for three blows but couldn't put them together for their usual big inning.

Monday night's Little League action saw Lew McCreery's Sport Shop squad stay in contention for the second-half title by downing the San Carlos Realty, 4 to 3, with Howdy King tossing a four-hitter at the Realty lads. Halminski and Oakie each hit two-for-three to lead the winners at the plate. Halminski homered in the sixth inning to give the Sports the winning margin. Padgett Decker, with a double and homer, led the San Carlos hitters and turned in a good pitching performance as he struck out 10 while giving up six hits.

Tonight's Little League game matches Boys' Town with Pilot Market and the 4th of July special brings together Wilder & Jones and Turner & McEldowney.

Gabfest On Motels, Tourists, Carmel Knolls, Satisfies Public On Plan

the business district should not be enlarged.

Admiral C. W. Fisher said that because the city has not adopted the general plan, the Carmel Planning Commission has had no influence before the county planning commission. His group, The Society for the Conservation and Preservation of Carmel, had presented 1500 signatures on petitions opposing the original plan, but these objectionable features are now eliminated, and he urged adoption of the plan.

Miss Jeannie Klenke, a member of his group, opposed the modified Ocean Avenue Mall, as did Gordon Campbell, William Culver and Mrs. Josephine Root.

Mr. Campbell termed the pedestrian mall a tourist trap and designed not for the convenience of the local people but for commercial exploitation. He disagreed with Planning Commission Chairman George Wilcox, who urged immediate adoption of the plan since it could always be modified. "Adopt it and you are putting something on the books," Mr. Campbell said. "While theoretically it can be changed, it is difficult to do it."

James Pruitt liked the Mall but said, "Before the Mall is adopted, parking must be provided." He wants to see auxiliary parking in Carmel Meadows (now eliminated from the plan) and at San Jose Beach.

Will Shaw spoke of the desirability of the Carmel Planning Commission's having a plan in their dealings with the county planning commission and the area planning committee. John Ruster said that annexation of the outlying districts would solve some of the problems but that the plan should be adopted immediately. Bud Clark spoke in favor of a transition zone for motel use. Patricia Hall protested that there are too many motels, "adopt something and control the situation." Hank Fonseca complained that under interim ordinance the business community is in a state of uncertainty; adopt a plan "so we can know the ground rules."

In his closing summary Mayor John Chitwood said that the council would have study sessions on the plan; that they will also consider devices for controlling future motel construction, such as the 40-60 site coverage proposal. As for the Mall, it is tied in with parking and nothing is planned at the moment to find parking elsewhere for the stalls that would be lost on Ocean Avenue.

Councilman James Buffington promised: "The council can and will work out a solution on this motel thing. I don't want to see Carmel over-run. Councilman Allen Knight: "We're all heading in the same direction except on minor points." Councilman Everett May: "All talk about transitional zones does not affect our discussion tonight," since the Orange Zone has been eliminated from the revised proposed plan. As for the remaining features of the revised plan: Sale of the Junipero property has eliminated the possibility of the civic center in the middle of Ocean Avenue; "The Mall fades out because providing alternate parking for that lost on Ocean Avenue, at $2500 per stall is remote." As for access routes to the city: "We have little control over that; the county and state force it." His conclusion: the controversial elements of the plan that still remained are hardly live issues, but "The plan is important in our relations with the county planning commission."

Councilman Norberg disagreed. He pointed out that the Carmel Valley people have a master plan and they have made no more progress than the Carmel Planning Commission with the county planning commission in their opposition to reduction of (Valley standard size) Carmel Knolls Subdivision lots to below. "We'll eventually need a master plan but there is no rush. It should follow many study sessions. The master plan would have no real effect on Frank Groves, executive vice president of the American Express Company, Inc., New York, will make his home in Carmel upon his retirement at the end of June.

Mr. Groves, who was born in England, joined the company in 1920. From 1926 until 1950 he lived in India and the Far East, and was primarily instrumental in building up the overseas banking operations of American Express in that part of the world.

At the outbreak of World War II, Mr. Groves was living in Manila as vice president and general manager for American Express activities in India and the Far East. He and his wife, Eliza May Groves, were captured there and spent over three years in the Santo Thomas concentration camp. After the liberation, and a respite in the U. S., they returned to Hong Kong for five years where Mr. Groves again assumed his duties as vice president and general manager. During the time he has been in New York since 1950, Mr. Groves has been a director of American Express, executive vice president in charge of overseas operations, and also a member of the company's Finance Committee.

Mr. Groves will continue to take an active interest in business and industry on the West Coast, and several bids have already been made for his services as a director of companies with sizeable overseas interests.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The American Symphony League Composers' and Conductors' Workshop is in operation at Asilomar and will continue rehearsals until July 13, the beginning of the three day conference sessions of the league. I was present at the first evening's rehearsal Sunday and Monday and Tuesday mornings, when ninety or more orchestral players from symphony organizations all over the country came under the baton of Dr. Richard Lert, the highly experienced European conductor, formerly of Salzburg and now of Pasadena, who is much sought after in America as a conducting authority. The second half of the evening session was directed by Dr. Erno Daniel, conductor of Wichita Falls Symphony in Texas, assistant to Lert.

At the intermission Mrs. Helen Thompson, the astute administrative secretary of the league, introduced some of the conductors and composers already present, including Monterey County Symphony Conductor Gregory Millar and Henry Cowell, well known composer from New York, a resident of Carmel years ago, three of whose symphonies and Hymn and Fuguing Tune will be played. Eighteen conductors will be present, including Marion ReDonde from Massachusetts, the only woman director listed, whom, unfortunately, I missed hearing Monday afternoon. Walligford Riegger, composer from New York, will be present. Other delegates have come from Washington, D.C., Virginia, Florida, Rochester, also from Canada, the Middle West and Southern States as well as the Western. Even Austria is represented by the harpist, Elizabeth Bayer, who received an ovation when introduced by Mrs. Thompson.

A new arrangement is offered the public. On the two week-ends they may register at Asilomar for the open meeting to find out what goes on to make an orchestra and to ask questions at the luncheon or dinner concerning music-making. This, the third workshop of the league at Asilomar, financed by a Rockefeller Foundation grant, is a significant musical development for the Nation which now supports more than 500 symphony orchestras counting major, civic and University organizations, and the Monterey Peninsula is honored to have this activity that will be continued here yearly. The rehearsals are all held in Merrill Hall.

Information about the weekend audience participation units may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Marjorie Oren, MA 4-6305.

One New Face, Two New Men In Carmel Police Department

There are two new men and one new face on the police force; new face is Dan Yurkovich's. Basketball and junior varsity baseball coach at the high school, he has been "on the desk" from 4:00 to 12:00 p.m. as summer three-months' relief man since June 5.

The other new man, but not new face, is Eddie Fisher, identical twin of Patrolman Bob Fisher who has been on the force for four and a half years, and you can't tell them apart. Eddie who started with the police department Tuesday morning, has been working in the Carl and Chan service station and garage. He recalls the day when a woman, who had been given a traffic ticket by his brother that morning, drove into the service station for gas, looked at him, said, "Oh, not you," and drove out. With both Fishers in uniform, the confusion will be confounded. Chief Clyde Klauermann admits but doesn't think it is important.

Eddie is 31 years old and lives on San Carlos Street between Twelfth and Thirteenth, across the street from his twin, Bob, who is married to Marian Dowgiallo. Bob's name is Francis Patrick but, "He hates Francis Patrick, so we call him Bob," Chief Klauermann explains.

Dan Yurkovich, "Uncle Dan" to the high school age kids who have formed the habit of dropping into the police station in the evening for casual conversation, was a juvenile officer for the State of Arizona before he went into teaching and coaching, and is a huge success at his summer job, especially with the kids.

New Patrolman Eddie Fisher went on the 7:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. shift in the cruise car with old hand Lieutenant Earl Wermuth, "to learn the ropes."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The almighty power and goodness of God will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. Bible readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" will include the following from Zephaniah (3:17): "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing."

Also bringing out God's supreme power is this passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (228:25-27): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

The Golden Text is from Revelation (15:4): "Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee."

Letters ...

Carmel California,
July 2, 1958.

Dear Wilma:

Some afterthoughts concerning last night's public hearing on the master plan have come to me, and I would especially wish to remind the woman who pleaded for the "isolationism" of Carmel, of John Donne's words: "No man is an island."

As much as we might wish to remain an aloof entity in Carmel, the fact remains that we are dependent upon the rest of the Peninsula for much of our very existence — the services we expressly do not want in our village, i.e., funeral homes, food processing plants, garbage disposals, automobile sales yards, airport, etc., must come from elsewhere on the Peninsula. Many of the staunchest defenders of our Carmel way of life depend on the other Peninsula cities for the income with which to enjoy that way of life.

Our council and planning commission must have the backing of the master plan in order to implement its recommendations with precise zoning laws. (Zone is an old German word meaning the sphere of influence around a wall-city!!), the plan is not arbitrary and may be changed upon the will of the citizenry.

Finally, were Perry Newberry to have been successful in the building of his Carmel wall, many of us so-called "Carmelites" wouldn't be here within the "pearly gates."

Sincerely,

Dorothy von Meier.

PRAYER OF A WEARY HEART

They promise me eternal cities, bright
With chrysoprase, white jade and virgin gold ...
All this for one who longs for mountains, old
In beauty, filled with silent peace at night.
Oh God, I pray You, grant instead the sight
Of tranquil streams and amber fields; unfold
A gentian's blue across the sky; uphold
An eagle's wings to guide my eager flight.

Dear Lord, too long my weary feet have walked
The somber asphalt lining city streets ...
Golgotha-paths where saddened hearts are balked.
Once more my weary, troubled soul repeats,
"O give me lanes where early suns have shone,
And where the pulse of nature's life blood beats."

—LAURA JANET LARSON.

SHAWL OF SAN SIMEON

The shoulders of San Simeon
Are graced by a silky shawl.
Changeable blue of every hue
Agleam in its swirling fall.
Rich treasure of lost galleons
Has colored the rippled tide,
Turquoise and beryl, emerald, pearl,
Sapphire and moonstone liquefied.
Day tinsels the billowing cloth ...
The fires of each hidden gem
Burn bright or dark, flame or spark,
As sun reaches down to them.
The ocean spreads analogy
Of glistening fringe, foam-light.
Edging blue silk with froth of milk,
Splash-scattering beads of white.

The shoulders of San Simeon
Are graced by a silky shawl
Of prised blue, constantly new
As beauty receives it all.

—CONSTANCE WALKER.

WOODLAND LILIES

I looked whole on sorrow, wrong and shame,
Man and his ways were heavy in my eyes,
Then I saw beauty, silent and aflame,
Today in a green well where redwoods rise.

I bless my sight now I have held a brook,
Shut in a hill by brush and shrub and tree,
In a quick vision, in a startled look,
Uncertain that I saw reality.

I caught my breath in wonder, to the thrill
Of a sudden, indefinable bliss,
A splashing in a cleft held me quite still,
A shock, a riot, a march of lilies.

Taller than queens, regal on ferny thrones,
Slim, shining, flaring, blazed upon my sight,
With the stunning force of unexpected suns;
Never was a more humble satellite.

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

Celia Kent

Mrs. Celia Seymour Kent, distinguished portrait painter who had lived in Carmel for nearly 40 years, died on June 27 in the Salinas Valley Hospital after a long period of failing health.

She was one of the first members of the Carmel Art Association. Her work was exhibited here as well as in other cities in the United States. In California she was invited to show her paintings in the Palace of the Legion of Honor and Gump's in San Francisco, at the Stanford Art Gallery and the Oakland Museum. Among those whose portraits she painted were Otis Skinner; the late Gastone Usigli, director of the Bach Festival; the late architect Charles Sumner Greene; author Hamilton Mabie; and the late Dr. James Crowther, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer.

Celia Seymour Kent was born in Buffalo, New York, on December 15, 1869. She was educated at Packer Institute in Brooklyn before studying portrait painting with William Chase at the Art Students' League in New York. She next spent four years at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn working in oil, pastel and sculpture before leaving for two years abroad to study and paint in France, Italy and Holland.

She returned to the United States and taught illustration and portraiture at Pratt Institute for 13 years then retired to live in New York and devote her time to portrait painting. Her portraits were widely exhibited and her fame increased. She moved to Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, and later to California where she taught in San Francisco and Oakland art schools before settling in Carmel.

She is survived by her husband, Robert Kent of Carmel; a stepson, Group Captain J. A. Kent of Hampshire, England; two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Darber of Hazelton, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Robert Grenelle of Madison, Wisconsin; several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon with the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, officiating. Burial followed in Cemetery El Encinal in Monterey.

Compton Offices Acquire Five Potter Paintings

Zenas Potter, who retired from the advertising industry at the height of his career to become an award-winning landscape painter, was honored June 30 when one of his original oil paintings was placed on permanent display in the San Francisco offices of Compton Advertising, Inc. At the same time, five other original paintings were displayed in the other Compton offices in New York, Chicago, Milwaukee, Los Angeles and Portland.

The collection was acquired by Barton A. Cummings, president of Compton, during a recent visit to Carmel, the home of Mr. Potter. Chosen for the San Francisco office is Noyo Harbor, an oil painting of a picturesque area on the California coast in Mendocino County.

Until he was 40, Zenas Potter had never painted. He was an active and successful businessman. At one time he had been vice president and general manager of the New York Evening Post. He later headed his own advertising agency in New York and Syracuse, before becoming vice president of Benton & Bowles, Inc., New York, and president of Erwin Wasey & Company, Ltd., of Chicago.

Mr. Potter began painting as a weekend hobby and developed his interest and skill during a year's trip through Europe. When a forced vacation, due to an illness, afforded the Potters the opportunity of living in the small Mexican village of Taxco, he was able to devote full time to painting. In Taxco two American tourists, who didn't know Zenas Potter was a highly successful businessman, purchased several of his paintings. "This spoiled me for life," Potter says.

The decision to retire to Carmel followed shortly after the Potters returned from Mexico. Their children were through with school, and rather than travel almost continually, as the nature of his advertising business demanded, the Potters' said, "Why don't we do what we want to do?"

With time out for service as director in charge of Rubber Conservation, as well as the job of handling congressional relations for the O.P.A., the Potters' have continued their formula for happiness in Carmel. He has had numerous one-man shows in the United States, the most recent of which was at the galleries of the Carmel Art Association.

The paintings which are being presented this week in the Compton Advertising agency offices across the nation represent a tribute to a successful businessman who is converting his retirement into a "second success."

Alicia Clark

Mrs. Alicia Hayden Clark died on June 27, after ten years of ill health, in her home at Carmel Highlands which she built 40 years ago. She came here in 1918 following the death of her husband, Wellington Clark.

Before her illness, Mrs. Clark took an active interest in several community organizations, particularly the Carmel Music Society and the Red Cross.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Louise Hayden Taylor of London, England; and two nephews, Brigadier General Frederick L. Hayden (USA ret.) of Washington, D.C., and Colonel James L. Hayden (USA ret.) of Berkeley.

Private funeral services, conducted by the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, were held on Saturday afternoon.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Clark may do so in the form of donations to the Fund for Crippled Children or the Monterey County Cancer Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

Mrs. MacAdam

Mrs. Madalena Victoria Brocklebank MacAdam died in a Berkeley sanitarium on June 28 after a long period of failing health, just two days before her ninety-fifth birthday. She lived in Carmel from 1932 to 1948 and took an active interest in local affairs.

Mrs. MacAdam was born in New York City on June 30, 1863. She came to California in the 1890s and was the first woman real estate broker in San Francisco, and first woman member of the Realty Board. One of her real estate projects was the Brocklebank Apartments in San Francisco.

co which she built and operated.

When her son-in-law and daughter, the late Commander Martin Jonas Peterson (USN) and Mrs. Katherine Peterson, moved to Carmel in 1932, Mrs. MacAdam accompanied them and lived with them in their Hatton Fields home. She and Mrs. Peterson moved to the East Bay area in 1948 following Commander Peterson's death and because of the illness of Mrs. Peterson who died on February 27, 1957.

Mrs. MacAdam is survived by a cousin, Mrs. Earl Schipp of San Francisco.

Funeral services for Mrs. MacAdam were held on Wednesday afternoon in the Albert Brown Mortuary in Oakland. Inurnment took place in Mountain View Cemetery in the same city.

The Good Old Summer Time

A wonderful season . . . vacation time . . . the time when children are on the loose, free and happy . . . when the skies are sunny and the evenings balmy . . . patio barbecue party time . . . the time when the good earth palpitates with the desire for reproduction . . . garden time.

Now, anyone can have a garden who has a plot of ground, who plans a little and loves a lot. . . . To have a fine garden one must know the needs of his soil, must learn what and when and how to plant. Your nurseryman can tell you these things and more. As to watering — give your garden the amount of water it needs, not too little and not too much. Heavy adobe soils take water slowly, loose sandy soils absorb it fast. When you know the soil and the drainage and sun and shade conditions of your plot of ground you will know just how to water for the best results.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg
Friends of the late Katherine French gave money to the library for the purchase of books for a memorial, and after much deliberation the books were selected and they have just arrived. Not yet cataloged, but we can take care of that very quickly. Both books are on children's literature, and both are by May Hill Arbuthnot, who is famous in library fields for her work with children. The one is a compilation of literature for children and is called the Arbuthnot Anthology. The other is entitled Books and Children, and is a delightful and complete work on children's literature. We are happy to have these books and they will be of great help in our children's department.

We have two new books on the heart, both written by doctors who are supposed to be authorities on the subject. Neither book is designed as a basis for self diagnosis and no reader should use them for such dangerous purpose. We call this to your attention as a warning. Dr. Henry Crossfield wrote one of them and his work is entitled Living with Your Heart in Health and Disease. The other is by Dr. Peter Steincrohn and is called You Can Increase Your Heart-Power. The subtitle of this latter book is You Can Live Better, Not Just Longer. Read and used as they were intended to be used, these books could prove to be very helpful.

Carrying the group idea a bit farther, we have four new books on cookery and nutrition. Two of them are specialized cookbooks. One by Alexander Watt is called Paris Bistro Cookery. The name, address, and open hours of the cafe are given as well as a few of its most famous recipes. A seasonal one for this area is a new idea for cooking corn on the cob. You take three parts of water to one part of milk, placing the cleaned ears of corn in it, and bringing it to a boil. As soon as it boils, remove the pan from the fire and allow the whole thing to sit and meditate for from ten to fifteen minutes depending upon the age of the corn. Serve with salt, pepper, and butter. Sound good to you?

The Japanese Cookbook was written by A. Kagawa, who is a doctor of medicine and head of a nutrition college in Japan. This small book has several delightful illustrations which show the beauty of the Japanese table settings as well as the appearance of the Japanese dishes after they are prepared.

In the nutrition field we have Stay Slim for Life by Ida Jean Kain, and another book on nutrition for children called Your Child Is What He Eats, written by Harold Lynch. This latter book might help to dissolve the bitter battles which some parents wage while trying to get their children to eat the proper things in the amounts the parents deem proper.

And speaking of children, we have an uproarious book by Anne Cleveland which she called The Parent from Zero to Ten. This study of parents was written in Gesell language, but in this case it is not child care but parent care. It might not be funny to a person who has never been a parent, but to us favored ones, it is a riot. Please, Parents, come and read this book, for a more enjoyable half hour's reading you will never experience!

Co-Operation Asked For Cerebral Palsy Workshop At Fair

The Cerebral Palsy Tri-County Affiliate will establish a shelter-workshop for vocational rehabilitation of physically handicapped persons in September in the home economics and flower show buildings at the Monterey County Fairgrounds. A small hourly wage for handicapped workers, piecework pay for projects and salaries will be regulated by the Industrial Relations Board.

An equipment loan service for the home will also be established in connection with the shelter-workshop for those handicapped persons unable, by reason of distance or disability, to attend the Fairgrounds workshop.

Residents knowing of physically handicapped persons, of high school age or over, and any physically handicapped person in this area are asked to write to Palsy, Box 929, Monterey, giving name, address, telephone number, sex, type of handicap (palsy, polio, etc.) and state how affected by the handicap. Information may be obtained prior to September by telephoning FR 5-0643.

The One Every 53 Minutes fund drive is extended until fall to raise additional funds for the local shelter-workshop and the national cerebral palsy organization. Donations may be mailed to the address mentioned above.

School Board Spends $11,573 For Driver Training Equipment

In an 8:00 o'clock in the morning special meeting Tuesday, the Carmel Unified School District Board welcomed new member Dr. Grant Fletcher; voted to spend $11,573 for a driver training device, and re-elected Gordon Campbell, chairman, George Yates, clerk.

The driving instructional device provides nine unit compartments fitted with steering wheels, brakes, throttle, instrument panel, etc. Street traffic conditions are projected on a screen and student responses are recorded on tape which is electronically connected with the operational elements. Nine students can be trained at one time, and their instructor informed of their response and reaction time by the tape record. Carmel High School will be one of 13 schools in California using the device. The state allocates $35 per student in addition to the regular A.D.A. allowance.

Dr. Fletcher was appointed to the recreation commission; Mrs. Julian von Meier to the insurance committee. Appointment of members to the teachers' salary committee was postponed.

Regular meeting date was changed from the last Wednesday changed from the last Tuesday and the time, from 7:45 to 7:00 o'clock in the evening.

Robert Mason

Robert Bruce Mason died in an Oakland hospital on June 28 after an operation which disclosed an advanced, malignant brain tumor. He came to Carmel in 1952 when he and his wife, Margaret, purchased a drygoods store on Dolores Street from Oscar Balzer and renamed the business The Masons.

Mr. Mason was born 53 years ago in Wichita, Kansas. He was an executive of the Capwell Company department store in Oakland before moving to a similar position with the Emporium in San Francisco, then was associated with an Atlanta, Georgia, firm for four years following his marriage to Margaret Jepson ten years ago.

He was a member of the Church of the Wayfarer, the Sons of the American Revolution, the Carmel Rotary Club and other civic organizations, and a World War II veteran.

Besides his wife he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Mason of Cambria, California.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, conducted funeral services for Mr. Mason in the McNary Mortuary Chapel in Berkeley on Tuesday morning. Burial followed at the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

Graduates next told extemporaneous stories followed by original songs by Alan Zellhoefer, Eleanor Bennett, Ann Campbell, Sandra Spaulding, Barbara Lane, Jon Zellhoefer, Jimmy Green, William Hall, John Bradley, Tena Dunaway and Kristin Adams. Each mother was then given a copy of her child's song or story. Diplomas were presented and an appropriate verse read about each graduate. Meeting In Beirut

Dennis Murphy, author of the current best seller The Sergeant, now living in the house his grandparents built at Slate's Hot Springs, tells about a man he met on the beach in Beirut, Lebanon, several years ago. The stranger in Arab dress approached Dennis and asked him if he were an American. Receiving an affirmative answer he continued his questioning. Further discovery revealed Dennis was a Californian from Salinas.

"Are you related to Dr. Murphy in Salinas," asked the stranger. "He was my grandfather," said Dennis. "Then your grandfather delivered me when I was born in Pacific Grove," was the unexpected reply Dennis received from the man he had thought was an Arab.

"And I was broke, and dramatizing my state on the Beirut beach," reports Dennis, "but my new friend found me a job and enabled me to get home."

Ivy covers a hillside beside Dennis' home at Slate's Springs on the coast below the sur. "We call it Keat's ivy," he says, "because it started from a slip my grandmother picked at Keat's grave and brought home and planted here."

Brosnans' Vacation Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brosnan leave today for a three-week vacation trip which will take them by train from San Francisco across the country to visit relatives in New York, Washington, D.C., and New Orleans. They will visit Los Angeles family members on the return journey.

John Roscelli

John Roscelli, Carmel's garbage collector for 35 years, died on Tuesday afternoon in his home in Monterey after two years of failing health.

Mr. Roscelli was born in Genoa, Italy, on September 15, 1883. He came to the United States in 1901, settled in San Francisco and retained vivid memories of the 1906 San Francisco earthquake. Thirty-nine years ago he came to live in Monterey and 35 years ago began collecting garbage in Carmel. His contract was last renewed for ten years in 1952.

Before John Roscelli became garbageman, Carmel citizens burned or buried rubbish in their backyards. An increasing population demanded better sanitary measures. Thirty-five years ago Mr. Roscelli offered to be garbage collector and the city council was so pleased members asked no payment for the garbage concession for two years. Then the council sought some remuneration. The amount increased until in 1952, Mr. Roscelli agreed to pay the city $3850 a year for the garbage concession.

John Roscelli first collected Carmel's garbage with one wagon and one helper. He became a Carmel institution, always cheerful as he sought out garbage cans behind cottages hidden in canyons and almost obscured by trees. He had no street numbers to help him States and raised the Stars and Stripes over the Monterey Custom House. The scene will be reenacted on the same location at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

A flotilla of Navy ships, led by the USS Eldorado, arrives this afternoon in Monterey Bay and will participate in events of the Fourth and the Sloat landing celebration.

Family celebrations of the Fourth start at Monterey Peninsula Country Club "Swimming Hole" at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon with members and families joining in and watching swimming contests, including a mud crawl for children under six. Finals of the Men's Golf Championship will also be held on the Fourth.

locate the houses. If he missed a customer the first time he was willing to return the same day. So beloved was John Roscelli that before the last war Carmelites planned a banquet in his honor and filled the Ball Room at Hotel Del Monte.

Whenever the city council considered granting the garbage concession to "an outsider", protesting citizens thronged the city hall asking that Mr. Roscelli be retained. The garbage concession was once given to someone else. After some months of difficulty this collector asked Mr. Roscelli to return, and he did.

During World War II, unable to find helpers, Mr. Roscelli enlisted the help of his daughter, Emma, and in the early mornings they could be seen on their garbage routes working to keep the business until Mr. Roscelli's son, George, returned from fighting for his country and could help his father.

Since illness forced Mr. Roscelli to retire from active life, this son has maintained the garbage collecting business which now demands four modern trucks, many helpers, and an office on Eighth Street.

He leaves his wife, Mary; his son, George; and three daughters, Mrs. Emma Moore and Mrs. Amelia Haven, all of Monterey, and Mrs. Lena Mahan of Santa Cruz; and 14 grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock in Mission Mortuary. Requiem Mass will be celebrated on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in San Carlos Church, Monterey. Burial will be in Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

Leroy Kiefer Comments On Brussels Fair

versity of Michigan and instituted by George G. Booth, owner of the Detroit News.

Using the fellowship, he was to tour Europe at his own discretion, to look at French, Italian or other architecture, using whatever approach he liked.

But the first thing a person of any thoughtfulness does with such a gift of freedom, is, of course, to impose a few self restrictions. And this Mr. Kiefer did, planning his trip carefully and making detailed sketches of everything he particularly wanted to remember, a habit he follows to this day.

He even made a special effort to improve his French, depending heavily for these self-imposed lessons on, for instance, queuing up at a post office and listening to people ordering stamps. If there's one thing he can probably do now better than anything else in French, it's order stamps.

When Mr. Kiefer returned to the states, he studied architecture at the University of Michigan from 1921 to 1926, and after earning an M.A. in the subject, he went to work for Albert Kahn of Detroit, then a leading industrial architect, and pioneer of two contributions to his field: use of reinforced concrete in building and recognition of the need for unobstructed wide-column spacing in industrial buildings.

He remained with the Kahn office until 1933 when he went with General Motors Styling. If he is concerned with any bugaboo in American industry, it is the old problem large businesses make of hiring a man who is a wizard, say, at design and immediately or eventually using him to head a department supervising others. He feels they should continue their original contribution which they do best, but receive the salary and prestige it deserves.

Mr. Kiefer, who has done, and does both, is a man who should know.
